SUMMARY

I'm a passionate Full-stack web developer with over 2 years of experience in developing efficient software applications for the global market. During this time, I've worked on diverse projects, including mentoring 10+ junior developers on a weekly basis, helping them meet strict deadlines and achieve their goals. My expertise spans coding languages such as React, and Ruby, and tools like PostgreSQL for efficient database management. I'm eager to collaborate with a team and continually learn and adapt to new technologies.
